

Football Fans Battle Conflicts With Games

By the Editor

Have you wondered why attendance at Omaha U. football games is so small?

The Gateway last week asked for more student support. The results were obvious. Now the Gateway feels the necessity for reporting some of the reasons for the small crowds.

On Sept. 20, Nebraska and South Dakota drew about 31,000 fans compared to about 1,600 who saw Omaha U. and Nebraska Wesleyan play the same afternoon.

On Oct. 4, Nebraska and Iowa State attracted nearly 37,000 fans. On the same afternoon, 1,200 people saw OU play Washburn. This total included the bands from the Omaha high schools.

Conflicting with the OU game on Oct. 4 were games televised on both Omaha TV stations. In addition, two Omaha radio stations carried the Nebraska game and one carried the game between Notre Dame and Texas.

The one factor favoring OU attendance was the broadcast of the game on an Omaha radio station. And this factor favors only future attendance.

There is one other factor to consider. A large percentage of OU students work on Saturday afternoons.

The seating capacity of the OU stadium is 4,600 people.

Flu Shot Registration Ends This Afternoon

Today is the last day that students may "beat the flu bug."

Those wishing to be inoculated to fight colds and flu must register with Miss Beldora Tacke today. A one-dollar charge will cover the cost of the vaccine.

Miss Tacke will give the shots next week in her office, Room 250. Students may be inoculated at their convenience.

Attention:

Petitions for Student Council and class officer posts are due today at 3 p. m. in the Dean of Students Office.

KWOU Delays Starting Date

Electrical complications have caused a delay in starting broadcasting over station KWOU, campus radio station. According to Bruce C. Linton, KWOU director, operation should start in "about two weeks."

Arrangements have been made to send programs through the jukebox. In return, hookups will be made to regulate the volume of the jukebox music and transmit it to various parts of the room. It is this problem of electronics which is causing the bottleneck.

Programing will include about 90 per cent music, and will be presented by the KWOU staff on Mondays and Thursdays from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m.

Old favorites will be played from the KWOU library with the popular records being provided by the Ed Patton Music store.

Omaha U. ISA Plays Host To Annual Regional Meeting

Glad To Have You . . .

Welcome, ISA.

It isn't often that the University of Omaha campus is the site of an organizational convention. But the hard work of Jane Hoff and other Independent Students has brought the regional ISA convention to OU.

I would like to extend Omaha U's welcome, both from the ISA members and the Greeks. We're very glad to have you visiting our campus.

In the future, it is hoped that more conventions can be held at OU. Omaha is known as a convention city, so why can't Omaha U. become a better-known campus?

The Arnold Air Society of the ROTC is planning to submit a plan at its national conclave asking that the next conclave be held at OU. If the plan is adopted, it would be another feather in OU's cap.

In coming years, maybe conventions of national sororities or fraternities can be brought to OU, also.

But first, our hats are off to the Independent Students Association for bringing this meeting to our University.

Welcome, again . . . and may your stay be pleasant.

Tomorrow's Dance Closes Convention

Registration for ISA members attending the annual Rocky Mountain regional conference begins this morning in the Student Center.

A luncheon in the Student Center will officially open the conference. Dr. Milo Ball, University president, will welcome the delegates at the luncheon.

Luncheon guest will be Rev. Rex Knowles, pastor from the University of Nebraska campus. Rev. Knowles will talk on "Leadership and Fellowship."

Following the luncheon, conference members will divide into four groups, each discussing some phase of regional interest. Later, the members will re-assemble and workshop chairmen will summarize the discussions.

A picnic supper, square dancing and group singing at River-view Park will conclude the first day's activities of the conference.

Saturday morning will see another general session, where the second group of workshops will be introduced. Eileen Wolfe, former president of the OU ISA, will be co-ordinator.

At the Saturday luncheon, President Emeritus Rowland Haynes will award a plaque to the regional group which has accomplished the most towards developing the individual's personality and school's progress.

Saturday afternoon sessions will include the election of regional officers and the selection of the convention site for next year.

McDermott Speaks

The final banquet will be held in the Student Center at 7 p. m. Saturday. Banquet speaker will be J. Francis McDermott, vice-president of the First National Bank and present King of Ak-Sar-Ben. He will speak on "Education—What For?"

Musical entertainment will conclude the banquet. Presidents of all social Greek organizations on campus have been invited to attend the banquet.

An all-school dance Saturday at 9 p. m. will conclude the regional ISA activities. The dance will be held in the OU auditorium. Activity cards will admit.

Expect 150

Intermission festivities include the presentation of student nurses and a floor show.

Besides local ISA members, over 150 regional members are expected to attend the conference. Last year's conference was held at Colorado Springs.

Attending the conference will be representatives from Montana, Arizona, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Wyoming, Kansas, Utah and Colorado.

Rehearsals Bring Cast Changes

The first week of rehearsals of "Goodbye, My Fancy" featured changes in the tentative cast.

Carol Nygaard has been replaced in the role of Agatha by Barbara Zimmerman. Ann McTaggart will portray Clarisse, a dramatics major attending Good Hope college, and Pat Smith and Sheila Schwid have been cast in the roles of Merry Larks.

According to Dr. Edwin L. Clark, the play's director, the cast is still not definite.

Committees to handle the incidental work connected with the production have not been arranged, but Dr. Clark expects to announce the list soon.

The three-act production, written by Fay Kanin, ran on Broadway with Madeline Carroll and Shirley Booth in the leading women's roles.

The entire action takes place during commencement week-end at Good Hope College. Agatha Reed, an alumna of the institution, returns to her alma mater for an honorary degree. She has made a name for herself, first as a successful correspondent and later as a fiery Congresswoman.

On her return, Agatha fails to see that things are not as they were, when she left the school 20 years before. She particularly fails to see the changes in James Merrill, president of the college and a former suitor.

A series of circumstances makes her realize belatedly that education at Good Hope is falling behind progress.

Her attempt to warm over the romance with Merrill is complicated by the appearance of Matt Cole, a Life photographer who has carried a torch for 16 years.

Memorable characters, including Woody the wise-cracking secretary, and Professor Birdeshaw, the meek woman who discovers the power of "ole debbil rum," are woven into the fast-moving plot.

The play is scheduled for the University auditorium Nov. 7 and 8.

Nyardi Will Address Third Institute of World Affairs

A former Hungarian diplomat will speak at the third lecture of the World Affairs Institute Wednesday night. Dr. Nicholas Nyardi, once Hungary's minister of finance, will address the Institute on "Mutual Security and the Future of America."

In 1947, while serving as finance minister, Dr. Nyardi attended a seven-month conference in Moscow, attempting to reduce a 200-million dollar reparations claim to something his nation could begin to pay.

Although Dr. Nyardi was not a Communist, his presence at the conference was essential because of his knowledge of the economic situation in Hungary. He negotiated endlessly with men close to Stalin, Molotov, Mikoyan and Voroshilov.

The story of his stay in Russia was published by him in "My Ringside Seat in Moscow."

A graduate of the University of Budapest, Dr. Nyardi holds the degrees Doctor of Laws and Doctor of Political Science. He was a banker and lawyer before becoming Hungary's last non-Communist finance minister.

After Hungary's collapse, Dr. Nyardi came to America. He is now professor at large in history and political science at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill.

Monsky Speech Contest

"The Community Chest Plan of United Giving—the American Way," is the subject of the fourth annual Henry Monsky Memorial College Speech Contest.

The contest, sponsored by the United Community Services, will be held Oct. 21 at the Central YWCA auditorium and is open to all college students attending Omaha schools of undergraduate work.

A preliminary contest will be held at each school to choose the top three contestants to compete in the finals. Omaha University preliminaries will be held Thursday, Oct. 16 at 1 p. m., and Friday, Oct. 17, at 2 p. m. in room 386. Speeches must be written and limited to five minutes or less delivery time. The preliminaries will be directed by J. D. Tyson, speech professor and debate coach, and Phil Allen, speech instructor.

The student whose speech is judged best in contest and delivery in the final contest will receive a $75 U. S. Saving Bond and the second place winner will receive a $25 bond.

A committee selected from the Omaha Toastmaster clubs will be judges in the final contest. The contest is a memorial to the late Henry Monsky, Omaha civic leader, who took an active part in the foundation of the Omaha Community Chest.

Angels Flight Seeks National Recognition

Omaha University's Angels Flight will pack up their wings and halos and set a true course west. Their goal is nation-wide recognition at the Arnold Society's convention in Los Angeles this Thanksgiving.

The evolution of the Angels Flight from a gleam in Major Robert Whaley's eye to its present situation of a well-organized unit is the story of hard work and sharp planning.

Early in the first semester of 1951, Major Whaley called on the presidents of the four OU sororities, a feminine officer of ISA and a prominent unaffiliated representative. He asked if they would be interested in forming a girls' honorary social society to supplement and further the interests of the AF-ROTC unit at the university.

Judd Leads

The idea for the honorary was given the green light by the above named girls, as well as University officials. The first problem of the honorary was of an organizational nature but under the leadership of Synthia Judd, Flight leader, the angelic sorority flourished.

One of the most noble of the Angels Flight tasks was to help the Arnold Air Society (Honorary AF-ROTC fraternity) untangle the knots in the planning of last year's first annual Military Ball.

Honorary Officer

The Angels efforts toward this end were not without recognition. The honorary Lieutenant Colonel was chosen by the Arnold Society from the Angels Flight and in future years, the military queen will be chosen in the same manner.

The overwhelming task at hand now is to establish the Angels Flight as a supplementary unit to every Arnold Society chapter in the nation.

Over thirty girls, at present, have won coveted places in the Angels Flight and will play a tremendously important part in accomplishing the nationalization of their order.

In order to become a member of the flight, the girls must be sophomores or above, possess a scholastic average of above 2.0, be nominated by five members of the Arnold Air Society, and above all, she must have a genuine interest in the Angels Flight.

South Dakota Grid Game Movies Set for 12 Noon

Movies of tomorrow's South Dakota game will be shown at noon Tuesday in the auditorium.

Last Tuesday's pictures of the Washburn game were cancelled because of conflict with other activities on campus, but the weekly showings will resume Tuesday and continue throughout the next six weeks.

Burt McMillan, editor-in-chief of the Gateway, who is sponsoring the movies, expressed "disappointment at the poor showing at the films of the Omaha-Morningside game." However, he expressed hope that more people will turn out for the Tuesday movies.

Blind Cadets Loose at OU

Before you reach into your pocket for some change to cross the palm of some unfortunate blind person, make sure he is carrying a white cane.

That will differentiate the totally blind from the ROTC students returning from their physical examinations at Offutt AFB.

Each day(five flight training hopefuls journey to the air base to take a physical. One part of the rigid test is the dilation of the eye. This leaves the pupil about the size of a saucer and the cadet reeling for the rest of the day.

No doubt you have heard about the battle of the ages, the battle of the sexes, and so on. Now, a battle is evident on the campus of the University of Omaha. It is the clash between the endomorphs, the mesomorphs, and the ectomorphs.

These are not dirty words as any psychology student will tell you.

This week the endomorphs are organizing under the supervision of Head Endomorph, Roger Dumbier. Dumbier, who is an endomorph's ideal, is banding his people together. Already he has such fine specimens as Fred Shinrock and Lee Nelson on his side.

Anyone desiring to join the endomorph squad, and who can meet all the requirements, should contact Dumbier as soon as possible for their insignia.

Marilyn Sibert... first Honorary Colonel chosen from Angels Flight.

Will It Last? . . .

Congratulations! You've passed your rookie test.

But will this surprising show of spirit last? We hope the balloon doesn't break tomorrow with the Migration Day trip to Vermillion, South Dakota.

With the World Series just over, it's a good time to draw a baseball analogy. In 1948, Gene Bearden was a rookie sensation when he won twenty games as a Cleveland pitcher. But in '49, his sophomore season, he failed miserably. Since then, he has been shuttled around the American League, unable to hit his stride.

Make your sophomore cheering season, starting tomorrow, as great as that of Mickey Mantle. Easily one of the top performers of the 1952 Series, Mantle is getting better every year. You can get better every game.

Up to now everything has been fine. The turnout at the pep rally and the Warriors meeting, coupled with the enthusiasm at the Washburn game, are proof that you can do it.

Mantle went up, Bearden went down.

The Pop Warner League plays Sunday.

Book Haunts 'Poor' Student

Perhaps one of the expenses of going to college that seems to bite into the pocket book a little harder than the others is that of buying books.

Just ask one OU student. He lost a seven dollar book, and when he couldn't find it he bought another. The first book turned up a week later in class.

First campaign evidence seen on campus were the "I Like Cheatin' Charlie" pins. Charlie Simpson is the Sig Ep candidate for the junior class secretary-treasurer post.

Mary Cosford and her PE class pals were hiking in Elmwood Park when three bicycles were found in the creek. The hunt for the riders ensued, but to no avail.

Indians Face Toughest Game

South Dakota Looms as Strongest Opponent on Slate

By Lee Nelson

Probably the toughest hurdle on the Omaha schedule faces the Indians tomorrow night when they journey to Vermillion to tackle South Dakota University. The Coyotes have won two of three games on a tough slate. Their opener against Nebraska was disastrous to the tune of 46-0, but on the next weekend, the complexion changed.

Augustana fell to the Sodaks 68-19 after trailing at half-time 55-7. Last week a strong North Dakota U eleven succumbed to the SDU attack, 21-14.

Vogt, Riftenbark

Ex-Nebraska stars Don Vogt and Ray Riftenbark spark the Coyotes on offense and defense, respectively.

Vogt uses his 220 pounds to effective results when running from the right halfback slot. Riftenbark is a demon on defense as a linebacker.

South Dakota rapped the Red and Black in last season's battle, 27-19. Missing from the present Coyote squad is Spence Brende who tallied three touchdowns and kicked three extra points in the victory.

Omaha U, winners-over Nebraska Wesleyan (14-7) and Washburn (19-0) and losers to Morningside (21-14), will nearly be back to top strength.

Bahensky Out

Jerry Welling's exhibition in the Washburn fray last Saturday proved that a jammed thumb has no effect on his passing ability.

Back Bob Schropp, suffering from cracked ribs, should be ready for some action, while huge tackle Bob Jackson will be ready to test his bad knee. Glue fingered end Bob Rose is slated to move at full speed for the Sodak game.

Only Jerry Bahensky, with a broken collar bone, will be definitely out of action.

Leading scorer Don Maseman and Rose will be at the wings on offense with Steve Marinkovich and Harry Johnson will line up at the tackles.

Two Backfield

Dick Edgerton and Don Hopkins are slated for guard duty with team captain Larry Johnson at the pivot.

In the backfield, a quartet of Keith Christie, Aksel Schmidt, Jerry Ziehe and Welling looms as the number one chance. Welling will be at quarterback with Schmidt and Christie at the halves and Ziehe at fullback.

Defensively, Maseman and Tom Bell will man the flanks. Ernie Lee and Bob Police are at tackle while Jim Spencer and Arnold Smith will start at guard.

Jerry Lawson and Larry Johnson shape up at the linebacking duo, with Schmidt and Jerry Tannahill at the halfbacks. Bud Gibbons gets the nod at safety.

Others marked for heavy duty are ends Howard Baker and Tony Roth. Ready for backfield duty are Dick Westin and Joe Moran along with several other top prospects.

If you see some newly turned ROTC lieutenants with their right arms in slings, they are promotion test proctors. Cadets taking the tests must report to the proctor, which requires a salute on the part of the proctor.

This is okay for the first 50 men, but then ugh . . .

Christie Near Top

In recently released statistics of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Keith Christie, Omaha back, is ranked among the top players in the country in total offense and punting for small college gridgers.

Christie ranks fifth among the nation's punters with an average of 42.5 yards per punt. He is just one tenth of a percentage point behind Wes Hultquist of Nebraska Wesleyan.

With 330 yards net gain, Christie ranks seventh in the nation in the total offense department. These statistics are compiled from showings in games through Sept. 27. Therefore Christie's compilations only include the Nebraska Wesleyan and Morningside contests.

Indians Lead

In the three games played this season the Indian grid team has outgained its opponents in total offense with a total of 856 yards against the opposition's 692.

The Omaha gridgers tallied 458 yards rushing and 398 yards via passing for their total. The opposition has compiled 359 yards on the ground and 339 by the air route.

Christie leads the Omaha squad in total offense, rushing and passing. He has accounted for 159 yards rushing and 290 yards in the air for a total of 449 yards gained in the first three outings.

Although seeing extensive action in only the first game of the year, Bob Schropp is ranked second on the team in yards gained rushing. Schropp has carried the ball 25 times for a total of 115 yards gained.

Welling Passes

In the passing department Jerry Welling is running second to Christie. Welling has completed six of ten aerials for a gain of 108 yards. Both Welling and Christie have thrown two scoring passes.

Welling is also running second in total offense with 14 yards rushing and 108 yards passing for a 122 yard total.

Bob Rose is the leading pass snatcher with 7 catches for 167 yards. Don Maseman is second with 10 completions for a 116 yard total. Maseman has also caught two scoring passes.

Christie leads in the punting department with 630 yards in 15 kicks for an average of 42 yards per try. Welling has an average of 36.5 from four punts and 146 yards.

Gateway Sponsors Choosing of Select Intramural Gridders

Something new will be offered in the re-organized intramural program this year.

The "Gateway" will sponsor an All-Intramural team at the end of the touch football competition. Under the direction of the newspaper's sports staff, the top eleven gridgers will be chosen by a vote of the coaches of each of the teams.

In their last meeting, the Intramural Athletic Council, governing body of the student athletic program, voted to have the team coaches cast ballots for the eleven chosen players in behalf of their teams.

Teams will probably meet separately before the balloting and choose their all-opponent squad, thereby giving their coach an idea of players to vote for in the final balloting. Under no circumstances will the squad necessarily be a reflection of the Gateway's opinions.

In the issue announcing the All-Intramural Team, pictures of the players will be run, along with statistics and facts about each.

The idea of the team is to publicize and popularize the intramural program among not only league participants, but also among the students who have opportunities to witness the league in action.

If the plan appears to be a success, teams may also be chosen in intramural basketball and softball leagues.

In the opening game of the 1952-53 intra-mural football league, Monday afternoon, Pi Kappa Alpha downed Theta Chi 8-0.

The Pi Kap's, last year's 'mural football champs, broke into the scoring column in the first half as they scored on a safety. A poor pass from center rolled into the end zone where Orville Jensen recovered it but was immediately smothered by a host of tacklers before he could run it out.

For the remaining minutes of the first half the Theta Chi's put up a strong defense and stopped the Pi Kap's scoring threats.

Halfway into the second half an interception by Charlie Platt of Larry Brehm's pass put the Pi Kaps inside Theta Chi's 20-yard line. A 15-yard pass into the end zone from Brendon Gallagher to Dave Langevin scored for the Pikes.

The remainder of the game saw both teams' scoring threats stopped cold by strong defenses. The cold weather was constantly giving both squads trouble in handling the ball.

In the second touch football contest of the week Sigma Phi Epsilon rolled to an easy 20-0 conquest of the Independent Students Association.

The Sig Eps tallied three quick touchdowns in the first half and coasted through the rest of the game. Overwhelming numbers of reserves enabled the winners to wear down ISA.

John Cottrell scored the first touchdown on a pass from Bob Moscrey. Another Moscrey pass, this time to Bill Seidel, was good for the extra point.

Dick McKee got the second marker on an end run from three yards out. The third score came on an end run by Roger Orr for one yard. A Tom Mostman-Bill Duffack aerial was good for the extra point.

The league schedule was originally drawn up for a six-team slate, but this may have to be revised as two more teams are asking to join the league.

From the Sports Desk . . . Let's Have Some More

By Frank Schuchart

The recent drive by interested Omaha University students has begun what I believe to be a successful campaign for school support of theletic events.

Spirit displayed by the enlarged Warriors organization and the new band of cheerleaders at last Saturday's Washburn contest brought hope and pleasant prospects to those who are interested in boosting the school. But, we still have a long way to go before we can rest on our laurels.

There are still too many supposedly ardent school supporters who are not contributing to the pep organizations at football games. Its up to us, to every one of us who claims to be interested in Omaha University, to get out and help drum up support for the boys on the field.

Attendance Below Par

Even with the god start that was made last week, attendance at the Washburn game was far below what it should have been. Sure, it was a little cold in the stands, but I don't think anyone froze. But, I do think a lot of us forgot about Omaha U. for the afternoon in favor of a soft chair in a warm living room and a "big" game on television.

And yet you, the ones who chose the television set instead of the Indian stadium, are the ones who scream the loudest about the terrible school spirit. You are the ones who give us the nickname "West Dodge High." How can we expect the people of Omaha to respond to our football team and turn out to see it play, when we don't even turn out ourselves?

Every Friday and Saturday night thousands of Omahans turn out to see local high school gridgers in action. It is the rule, rather than the exception, to have crowds of five to six thousand people packed in the stands for these prep games. And yet we are lucky to muster crowds of 2,000 counting the band and players, to our contests even though our players are many of the same gridgers who only a couple of years ago drew thousands to high school contests.

Night Football

This doesn't make sense to me, or to many others who do come. True, the high schools usually have the advantage of playing night football. This would undoubtedly help to draw fans to Omaha University games. And there is no reason why we can't also have night football.

Several times in recent years plans have been announced to install lights in the Indian stadium. But they haven't come. Many feel that by installing them we could up the attendance tremendously. I feel it could be doubled and tripled with night games.

But again this is something that the students could remedy. It is up to us to let it be known what we feel is needed, and to back our convictions completely. Many of us have expressed these above mentioned views to one another, but let's start mentioning it where it will do some good.

Could Help Finance

Football at this institution is not supposed to be a paying proposition. And I do not feel that it should be. But it could off-set all of its own expenses and possibly contribute some to the many new buildings and additions that were included in the 10 year plan for expansion of the University.

If we could gain the support of not only ourselves but of all Omaha, we could accomplish a great deal. Maybe we won't be students here when some of these things are accomplished, but nevertheless Omaha will always be our Alma Mater. Let's be proud of it!

Warriors, Card Section Plan New Performances for Next Home Game

Another halftime show has been planned by the newly organized card section for the next home game. This is the Dads' Day game on Oct. 25 with Knox College of Illinois.

All the dads of the Omaha players will be honored guests at the game. To salute them, the card section will display the word "DAD" and a picture of a pipe, with smoke rising from the bowl. The performances are put on through the co-operation of Ken Borchert, who assists chairman Maynard Tatelman, and Joan Thorsen. Borchert draws and plans the display in scale.

The card section hopes to aupear at every home game. Right now, plans are being prepared for a "colossal Homecoming."

If there are any students who would like to join the card section, they should see Maynard Tatelman. There is a great need for more members.

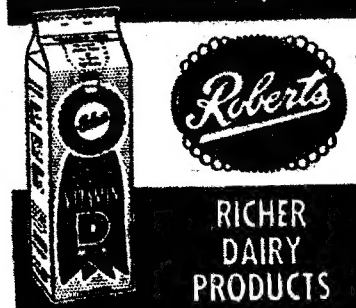

The Warriors are also asking for more members. So far, there are 51 signed up, but who have not actually become members. There is room for 40 additional volunteers.

There will be a meeting next Thursday to further organize the club. Dues, which are two dollars a semester, should be paid at the meeting.

Greek Sing Opens '52 Social Season

The first annual all-Greek social event will be held this evening. The event is the Sig Ep Greek Sing to be held at the Hill Haven Barn from 8 p. m. to 12 midnight.

The Greek sing started three years ago with the purpose of uniting all the Greeks as a body and not as individual organizations.

The highlight of the evening will be a singing contest between the sororities and fraternities individually. Each sorority and fraternity must choose a song which is an accredited national song of that organization, and this song will be judged by a member of each one of the organizations. The winning sorority and fraternity will be presented with a loving cup trophy on behalf of the Sig Ep fraternity. The Sig Eps will not participate in the contest.

The loving cup will be returned to the Sig Eps in time for the Greek Sing again next fall. The contest will continue each year. If one organization wins the contest for three consecutive years, that organization will keep the trophy.

The judges for the contest will include a representative from each of the sororities and fraternities. The girls will judge the boys and vice-versa. They will judge only on clarity, dynamics, timing and harmony. The type of songs will not be considered at all.

The rest of the evening will be spent in community singing, dancing and refreshments.

Dress for the evening will be informal with fellows and gals in jeans and bright shirts or the gals in skirts and sweaters.

Everyone is to come stag with their own organizations.

For those who need transportation, the Sig Eps will furnish transportation to and from the sing of wanted. All of those who are interested should contact Tom Myers.

Omaha Water Sports Club Starts at OU

The Omaha Water Sports Club meeting will be held next week, the exact time and place will be announced in the next Gateway.

The activities include swimming, canoeing, sailing, and other phases of water sports. Members must have proficiency in swimming to be able to join. The club will be organized by students who hold American Red Cross Senior Life Saving certificates.

Group Dynamics Opens Drive for New Members

The first meeting of the Association for the Study of Group Dynamics will be Thursday, Oct. 16. The meeting is a 5:30 p. m. supper meeting in the cafeteria.

Those interested in group work, leadership, and personnel work are invited to attend.

Pi Kappa Alpha Meets, Nominates Candidates

Pi Kappa Alpha at their meeting last Tuesday night held elections of candidates for class offices. They also set the date for a party with the Zeta Tau Alphas for the evening of October 18.

Colder Weather Forces Gals To Change to Fall Clothes

By Jerry Kelley
With cold fall winds blowing and tossing colored leaves around, and the football season well under way, college girls are once more putting on those warm clothes.

To keep dainty ears from freezing we suggest a pair of white fuzzy ear muffs. Then too, the new poodle cloth coats are all the rage, something to match the mademoiselle's hair cut.

Worn on the coat's lapel, a big mum adds a touch of fall. Latest fad for girls at many colleges is to wear the mum with the name of the school made from pipe cleaners hung just below. Tiny streamers with football charms on them are attached to the name of

ISA Will Present All-School Dance

The Independent Student Association will present the Harvest Moon all-school dance in the auditorium tomorrow evening.

The 9 to 12 p. m. informal affair will climax the Rocky Mountain Regional Independent Students Association conference. Admission will be by activity tickets. During intermission, a floor show and the student nurses will be presented.

All students are urged to attend and meet the guests from colleges in nine states. Those states include: Montana, Arizona, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Wyoming, Kansas, Utah and Colorado.
